About Rileigh

Rileigh is a pediatric ICU nurse, mother, and embroidery enthusiast. Her core value is to treat everyone with kindness. This helps her care for her patients, raises her son, and prepares to welcome her daughter.

Graduating from nursing school is one of Rileigh's proudest accomplishments. School was difficult, but it led to her dream job in the pediatric ICU, where she works with critically ill children and their families every day. Her commitment to nursing is matched by her dedication to motherhood. Having her son was an important moment in her life. She teaches him the same kindness she brings to her everyday work.

When she is not nursing, Rileigh found a passion for embroidery after seeing it on TikTok and Instagram. What started as fun interest has become a favorite hobby. She loves that embroidery is completely customizable and perfect for making personalized gifts. Some of her favorite projects include embroidered bows she made for her nieces' Christmas presents and a blanket she is currently working on for her daughter.

Travel has also shaped who Rileigh is today. Her trip to the Netherlands stands out as another defining experience. Looking forward, she is focused on getting control of her finances and saving for a bigger house for her growing family. Her closest friends and family describe her as fun, dedicated, and kind. Rileigh balances her demanding career with creativity and family, always striving to grow and learn new things.
